Speech At Guildhall Is Full Of Hope That The Worst Is Over

NEVER FIGHT U. S.

Declares Idea Of War With America Unthinkable By British People

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—Mr. Lloyd George in his speech at the Guildhall banquet tonight said that the Washington Conference did not come too soon for countries were amassing fresh engines of war which were becoming a hundred times more destructive. He said that in his opinion disarmament was the only road to safety.

He declared that every man and woman of British blood had been taught to regard a serious quarrel with America as unthinkable and that attitude itself guaranteed peace between the two powerful communities.

Mr. Lloyd George spoke guardedly of the Irish situation in order not to prejudice the negotiations. He admitted that a critical stage was being reached but he was in no way despondent.

The Premier declared that the country was burdened with the largest debt incurred by any nation. This had produced a terrible crisis but he believed that the worst was past and improvement was slow but it was sure. Britain's credit was firm and uncracked. Our exports in October were the best since March.

Lord Curzon said that all eyes were turned in eager expectation to Washington. Unity of international action was the sole remedy for the evils from which the world was suffering.

HORNE SEES BUT GLOOM IN STORE DESPITE TAXES

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—Sir Robert Horne, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons today drew a gloomy picture of the national finances. The estimated surplus of £97,000,000 had entirely disappeared owing to the coal stoppage and the railway agreement.

The revenue had been surprisingly good. The income-tax and estate customs and excise duties had exceeded expectations, showing that the people had greater reserves of wealth than was suspected. The House of Commons would require to harden its heart and cut its coat according to the cloth. It was not yet fully realised that there must be additional expenditure as the American debt was still owing and the interest postponed for the last three years.

According to the arrangement, interest would begin next year, payable at £50,000,000 per annum. The British attitude must be that what we owed we should always be prepared to pay and we should meet our obligations however hard or difficult the circumstances (Cheers).

Sir Robert Horne concluded that the horizon was distinctly brighter, and expressed his assurance that Great Britain's traditional tenacity and resourcefulness would carry her through these hard times.

Australian Wins Champions Prize

First prize in the Champions Sweepstakes, amounting to $226,800 was won by Mr. H. S. Barlee, of the Kawasaki Dockyards, Kobe. Mr. Barlee, who is an Australian, is connected with the Dockyards in a civil engineering capacity.

Announcement of the winner is made possible by the courtesy of Mr. P. C. McKay, Kobe racing owner and enthusiast, who is a prominent figure at the local course and who wired to Kobe for the information.

First Woman Customs Collector In U.S.

MRS. Jennie Musser, of Salt Lake City, Utah, has the distinction of being the first woman to be named by President Harding to the post of customs collector. Mrs. Musser, who is well known in coast political circles, will have charge of the Utah district.

SAFEGUARDS SUGGESTED TO FRANCE IN REPARATIONS

Wiesbaden Agreement May Be Modified To Make All Share Alike

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 9.—Some concern is felt about the decline of German currency due to apparently large transfers of funds abroad by German industrial firms and heavy German buying of foreign securities.

It is probable that German payments on the score of reparations due in December and January will be met with difficulty. The French papers are urging the Government in agreement with the Allies to take stern measures to compel Germany to meet her obligations.

London, Nov. 9.—The safeguards suggested by the British, Belgian and Italian members on the Reparation Commission, with regard to the Wiesbaden Agreement, are:

(1) A time-limit of between 4½ and 7 years after which no new deferment of debts should be permitted and the liquidation of existing deferred debts should commence to be made by regular annual instalments;

(2) The aggregate amount for which the debit against France is deferred should never be allowed to exceed £200,000,000;

(3) Provision should be inserted for the payment by France to the general Reparation acount from time to time (within the limits of the deferred debits temporarily outstanding) of any amounts which may be necessary to secure that other Allies receive their proportions of the amounts due from Germany under the schedule of payments.

MONEY BANKRUPTCY

Paris, Nov. 9.—M. La Steyrie, the reporter on the special budget for recoverable expenditure, has returned from Berlin. He informed the Financial Committee of the Chamber that the German Government by the reckless issue of paper money was heading towards bankruptcy which the great industries regarded as the best means of avoiding the payment of reparations.

M. La Steyrie declared that such bankruptcy, if it happened, would be purely monetary and in no way economic because Germany, even if the mark fell to the level of the Austrian crown, would preserve her formidable industrial power intact.

He considered it essential that the Interallied Commissions should effectively control the German Administration in order to compel Germany to cease irregular expenditure and to collect taxes regularly.

Tuchun Of Kiangsi Wires For Aid; Sun's Forces Are Menacing From Two Sides

Wu Hurries To Dead Wife's Bier

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

HANKOW, Nov. 10.—So far as Wu Pei-fu is concerned, the stopping of the forces of Sun Yat-sen and Szechuen can wait. So can the Paotingfu conference, for his wife died today at Loyang and Wu is leaving in the morning for his home there. His first duty is to his family, Wu asserts, stating that he will go to Paotingfu later and probably to Peking as well, after the necessary rites in honor of his dead spouse are completed.

Nine Divisions In Force, Six Attacking Hunan While Three Will Invade Kiangsi On March To Wuchang Cities

ACCORDING to a Hankow message received in Shanghai last night Tuchun Chen Kwang-yuen, of Kiangsi, has telegraphed to General Wu Pei-fu that Southern troops are advancing on the province, threatening it on the South and West. Southern troops have appeared at Nanyung, Daiyi, Pinghsiang and Tiling, the message stated.

SUN HAS NINE DIVISIONS

Sun Yat-sen is now really ready with the expeditionary force which is to attack the North, according to reports published in the local Chinese press. He has nine divisions, it is declared six of which are to attack Hunan and three to begin an invasion of Kiangsi.

According to a Hongkong telegram to the Chinese papers here General Chen Chiung-ming has arrived in Canton.

Tokio, Nov. 9.—The confession of Ryichi Nakoku, slayer of Premier Hara, shows that the assassination was long premeditated.

Nakoku said that he purchased a dagger last summer and had since been shadowing Hara, but the guards had been too close to the Premier. He said that it was a great mistake for Hara to hold his office against public sentiment.

"It was a great crime for a young man such as I to commit," the slayer admitted, "but I did it because I love my country. I intended to commit suicide on the spot. I am sorry that I failed."

The youth wept freely while making his confession.

TWO MORE TAKEN

Tokio, Nov. 9.—Two youths said to be students have been arrested and charged with complicity in the Hara assassination.

SZECHUEN REFORMS

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Nov. 6.—Alarming reports are arriving in Hankow that Szechuen troops, which have been driven back from Hupeh area into Szechuen, are on the verge of renewing the strife on the upper Yangtsze gorges.

Troops under General Tan Mow-hsing and General Pan Chen-tow are very anxious to re-attack the Chihli defence troops under Chao Yung-hwa and Wong Yu-chen, who are maneuvering Chihli troops from Kingchow and Ichang to the Hupeh frontier to resist the aggressive Szechuenese.

There has been quarrels between Chihli and Szechuen troops since Wu Pei-fu went away, regarding

CONSIDER WORM AND ITS APPETITE LABOR IS ASKED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—During a discussion of the International Labor Office Commission for the regulation of night work, M. Matsumoto suggested reservations, declaring that it was impossible to interrupt night work in silk rearing owing to the necessity of feeding the worms.

URGE BRANCHES ABROAD

Geneva, Nov. 9.—During the discussion by the International Labor Conference of the report of the International Labor Office, Mr. Matsumoto, the Japanese workers' delegate, supported the recommendation of Mr. Joshi, the Indian workers' delegate, urging wider representation from distant countries on the staff of the Labor Office and also the establishment of branches of the Labor Office in distant countries.

Mr. Gupta, the Indian Government delegate, declared that the Office was still in its infancy and deprecated illusions regarding the competence of the Conference which was not a legislative body, but an institution, established to effect co-operation between the three component groups.

ELASTIC IS SUNDAY

Geneva, Nov. 9.—The Commission of the International Labor Conference today adopted by 17 votes to 12 the draft convention establishing general rule for one day's rest in seven, but providing great elasticity in its application.

Call Off Troops Belgrade Is Told

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 9.—The representatives of the Entente have made a joint communication to the Belgrade Government, requesting the Government to cease its military operations in Albania. The withdrawal of the Yugo-Slav troops will shortly be the subject of a decision by the Great Powers.

Chinese And All Allies To Observe Armistice Day

Chinese organisations together with those of all the allied nations that were engaged in the war will unite today in the observance of the third anniversary of the armistice which brought the world struggle to an end, and the celebration also will be in observance of the opening today of the Disarmament Conference in America.

Marking the occasion a special service is to be held at the Holy Trinity Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock this morning. This will be attended by the members of the United Services Association and the Shanghai Volunteer Corps.

An outstanding event this morning will be the march of the men of the British warship Hawkins. The naval contingent is to land at the Customs Jetty at 9 o'clock and the march will be down Foochow Road from the Bund, thence to Nanking Road, and then to the Race Course where exercises will be held.

As far as practicable throughout Shanghai, two minutes of silence will be observed at 11 o'clock in memory of soldiers fallen in the war. At the Shanghai Club at the tiffin hour the Last Post will be sounded.

In the afternoon a football match will be played between the Army and Navy on the Municipal Police Ground. The kick-off is to be at 3:30 o'clock and the proceeds of the match will be given to St. Dunstan's Home for the Blind.

This evening a dinner, dance and concert will be given at the French Club by the members of the Societe des Anciens Combattants.

In observance of the armistice anniversary, a special religious service will be held this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at Chel-Rachel Synagogue. The service will be conducted with the choir which will be under the leadership of Mr. Jacob L. Friend. Rabbi W. Hirsch, B.A. will deliver a sermon on the "Limitation of Armaments."

The newly organised Chinese Diplomatic Consultative Association with the Students Union and the Street Unions will hold a public meeting at 10 o'clock this morning at Martyrs' Memorial Mall, in the Chinese Y.M.C.A. The program will consist of the nomination of a Chairman, convening of meeting and addresses following which a procession is to start from the International Institute on Avenue Joffre and will pass through the Min Kuo Road to Marche de l'Est where it will disperse.

The Chinese national flag is to be displayed throughout the Settlement in accordance with a circular notice issued by the Nantao Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

U. S. S. Washington, Newest And Greatest Sea Fighter, Leaves Ways

U. S. S. WASHINGTON LAUNCHED. JEAN SUMMERS.

UNTIL a decision is reached by the Disarmament Conference Uncle Sam is remembering and acting upon a little lesson in preparedness learned at the outset of the recent war. The U. S. S. Washington, sponsored by ten-year-old Miss Jean Summers, daughter of a Congressman from the State for which the ship is named, is only one of four of her type now building. The Washington will mount 16-inch rifles and will be the last word in superdreadnought construction. She didn't lack kick even at her launching. From the hands of little Jean Summers a bottle of honest-to-goodness champagne smashed against the prow of the ship.

Riding The Stork Has Its Advantages Over Hearse

By Elsie McCormick

In Western countries, where the bachelor seems to grow more coy with each passing year, there have been various attempts along the line of bachelor taxes, cooking schools, and higher income tax liabilities to coax or propel him up to the gentleman in the long black coat.

In China, they offer him a crowning inducement. A person who isn't married can't have a funeral procession.

When one considers the high social position held by a corpse in the East compared with his status while alive, the force of this argument for matrimony becomes overpowering. In Western lands, if a man visualises his funeral procession at all, he thinks of it only in dreams occasioned by the third helping of plum pudding.

FUNERAL CROWNS CAREER

A Chinese, however, seems to look forward to it with the assured pleasure of a debutante anticipating her initial ball. To him it is the crowning event of his social career and while he is hardly in a position to receive the guests, he nevertheless looks forward to a trip astride the stuffed bird on top of the coffin, where his spirit can view the procession without any showing or crowding and where he can enjoy the glint of the gold embroidery on the banners, to say nothing of the acrobatic music produced by the religious orchestra.

Perhaps if the foreigner was certain of a view of the proceedings, his interest in the function would be a little more emphatic. But as he is by no means sure of how his time will be occupied during the period of the funeral, the length of the hearse plumes or the carriage queue is a matter of moment to the survivors.

IN SHARP CONTRAST

Funeral processions range from the solemn pageants several miles in length escorting the bodies of tuchuns and former members of the royal family to the wooden box trundled by undecorated coolies and followed by a wheel-barrow full of white clad relatives burning punk sticks. A study in contrast was offered by the funeral of Li Shun, which took place a year ago in Nanking, and the funeral of a general in Canton, who died a few months later. The former procession was enriched by all the color of Buddhist pageantry, while the other was featured by a black foreign-style hearse, with black streamers borne by top-hatted mourners, and not a punk-stick, priest, or string of ghost money anywhere on the horizon.

RUSSIAN WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH WHILE IN BED

Mrs. Pellia Michovska, a Russian 27 years old, lost her life early yesterday in a fire in her home at 246 Avenue Joffre, believed to have been started from a burning cigarette.

Within a few minutes of the time that the fire was discovered, when Mrs. Michovska was found unconscious and painfully burned, medical aid was summoned to save her. The efforts of three physicians were unavailing, however and she succumbed shortly after 1 o'clock.

Stephen Makaroff, brother of the victim, discovered the fire when he was awakened by the smell of smoke. On entering his sister's room he found the bed she occupied a glowing mass and the chamber was filled with dense smoke.

TALKED TO BROTHER

Mrs. Michovska came home about 11 o'clock last night from a dinner party with her brother and talked with him about an hour before retiring. She went to bed shortly after midnight and was smoking a cigarette. Nothing is known until about 12:50 when the brother awoke, smelling smoke. Mrs. Michovska was then beyond aid as she had been terribly burned about the head, arms and upper body.

HUSBAND SLAIN IN WAR

A native of Siberia and daughter of the great Engineer Ossip, who was one of the builders of the trans-Siberian Railway, Pellia Ossipovna was married four years ago. Her husband was killed in a fight with the Bolsheviks and she settled in Harbin with her mother and four sisters, coming to Shanghai about two years ago.

She was employed as a cashier at The Kodak Shop on Nanking Road and had made plans to leave for Harbin for a visit with her family. She expected to go North in another week.

She talked about the trip with her brother, Stephen, the night of her death. The brother, who is 21 years old, only recently arrived from Harbin to live with his sister here and was studying English preparatory to taking a position.

It was learned yesterday that about two weeks ago Mrs. Michovska nearly lost her life when she mistook rat poison for medicine she was taking. Dr. Liprovsky barely saved her life. Dr. Liprovsky, Dr. Gregorian and Dr. Fortunatov were the three physicians called yesterday.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 10.—A Washington telegram to the Tokio Nichi Nichi dated November 7 states that the following are the items to be placed by the United States before the Washington Conference. (1) Open door of China, (2) territorial integrity for Russia, (3) abolition of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, (4) abrogation of all secret agreements bearing on the Far East, (5) recognition of Japan's right for economic expansion on the Asiatic continent, (6) amendment of Japan's interpretation regarding the Ishii-Lansing agreement, (7) restoration of peace and order for China under international guidance, (8) international control of the Chinese Eastern Railway and new adjustment relative to other railways in China, (9) agreement between the three countries: Great Britain, Japan, and the United States, concerning national defence, (10) recognition to be given to Great Britain's necessity of her maintaining the biggest Navy in the world, (11) recognition to be given to the United States' necessity of keeping a Navy equal to that of Great Britain, (12) arrangements between Japan and the United States, providing that no forts should be constructed on all the islands in the Pacific, and (13) recognition to be given to the United States' necessity of completing the construction of six battle-ships, a program for which is now under contemplation.

GERMANY'S STRENGTH

(U.S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, Nov. 8.—General Buat with the French military staff of the delegation has arrived and has brought with him documents relating to Germany's potential strength for use in presenting France's position.

It is said that the documents include secret instructions, grouping 25,000 ex-officers into skeleton regimental formations for instant formation of units by summoning four or five million ex-soldiers.

He also has reports purporting to show that Germany has acquired small arms and artillery factories on the border of countries beyond the Allies' control, including Holland and Switzerland.

HUGHES FOR CHAIRMAN

Washington, Nov. 8.—It was indicated that the American proposals are to be completed as far as possible before the last assembly of the Advisory Committee tomorrow. It is expected that the proposals will be presented to the Committee for final review.

It is also expected that Secretary Hughes will become the head of the American delegation temporarily and may be permanent Chairman of the Confer-

BRITAIN NOW ASKS FRANCE AS TO KEMAL AGREEMENTS

Chamberlain Refuses To Talk Now That The Pourparlers Are On

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 9.—The papers comment on Lord Curzon's memorandum regarding the Franco-Turkish agreement, as sober and moderate. Confidence is expressed that the apprehensions felt in certain British quarters are quite groundless, and all misgivings will be dispelled as soon as the French and British Governments find an opportunity of threshing out the facts.

London, Nov. 9.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Austen Chamberlain said that it was hoped to finish business tomorrow and thereafter to prorogue Parliament.

Asked whether the Government would give an opportunity for the discussion of the Franco-Kemalist Agreement, Mr. Chamberlain said that he had consulted Lord Curzon and nothing could usefully be said at present as communications were proceeding between the two Governments.

TENYO IN TONIGHT

The T.K.K. liner Tenyo Maru which sailed from Nagasaki yesterday morning, is due at Woosung at about 9 o'clock this evening with passengers and mails for Shanghai.

The Tenyo Maru will leave for Hongkong tomorrow, the tender leaving the Customs jetty at 2 o'clock.

China's Reponsibility Questioned By America

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 10.—The vernacular papers publish a statement purporting to come from Secretary of State Hughes to American Minister Schurman which reads as follows:

"However much the State Department may desire to save the credit of the Chinese Government in America it is feared that efforts in that direction will not be of much avail. You should inform the Chinese government of the situation and urge that means be devised to meet obligations in view of the importance of maintaining Chinese credit in the American market.

"If this is done it would allay the suspicion that the Chinese government is guilty of a breach of trust, causing popular recognition of a default in loan payment which may be merely a misunderstanding.

"Failure to do this will mean an absolute refusal of the American market to handle Chinese bonds.

"You may further inform the Chinese government that failure to take advantage of the opportunity to redeem overdue obligations will compel the belief that the Chinese government is lacking in a sense of responsibility, which will adversely affect China's position at the Washington Conference."

The American Legation declines to comment on this text.

The report is declared to be ex-official from Chinese sources, received from the American Minister.

KOREANS IN JAPAN WIRE WASHINGTON AND GO TO JAIL

A dramatic story reached here yesterday regarding efforts of Koreans in Japan to bring the case of their country before the Washington Conference.

Local Koreans were informed that on November 5 a body of their fellow countrymen assembled in Tokio to formulate resolutions for transmission to the American capital. They passed a series of resolutions and cabled them. Immediately following the meeting there was a police raid and twenty-four of the assemblage were placed under arrest.

The text of the resolution is as follows:

"To love and to desire peace are natural cravings of human beings. As indication of this, after the great European War, there sprung up many kinds of movements for justice and humanity, international, racial, and social, throughout the world, and we have the conviction that it is only the Washington Conference that can incarnate those actual, racial movements. So we have earnest aspirations and pray for the satisfactory achievement of them, standing on the basis of justice and humanity and realising the relation of the Korean question to universal peace.

"We should remember in our hearts that World Peace depends upon the solution of the Oriental question, and Oriental peace depends upon the complete settlement of the question of Korean independence.

"How much more hope and expectation we have on account of the fact that the main topic of the conference consists of the complete solution of the Far East and Pacific coast questions! In order that we may attain our fundamental principle and substantial object, we send the undermentioned resolution of our party to the Washington Conference, to the governments of all countries, and to the nations of the world:

"1.—We certify that Korean independence will maintain the Peace of the Far East and make the greatest and most substantial cause for the maintenance of world peace.

"2.—The present pitiful plight of Korea thoroughly shows that the so-called annexation of Korea was based upon fraud.

"3.—The Korean people can not be brought to their development at the cost of being subjected to the oppression of Japan's insidious and perverse government.

"4.—If Japan carries on her present policy, World Peace cannot be guaranteed.

"5.—For these reasons, the Washington Conference should discuss and determine the question of Korean Independence.

"6.—The nations of the world should aid the Independence of the Korean People.

"7.—Our party endorse all the claims introduced by the delegate of the Korean Provisional Government.

Young Korean Independence Party.

URGE SAIONJI TO ACCEPT

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 9.—At an interview at Odawara between Prince Yamagata and Prince Saionji yesterday, the former is reported to have earnestly urged the latter to come forward to take office in order to save the situation and to set the popular mind at rest, adding that should Prince Saionji fail to assume the Premiership, no plan for absolute security can be readily devised to save the present situation.

As a consequence, Prince Saionji, it is reported, brought the interview to a close by assuring Prince Yamagata that he would think the matter over. That the situation can hardly be adjusted satisfactorily without the Seiyukai Party under the present circumstances is, it is reported on good authority, an opinion commonly approved by both the Old Statesmen.

Wu Pei-fu Declares His Aim Is Only To Unite China

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, Nov. 6.—In an interview which General Wu Pei-fu granted to Reuter's Representative today, the High Inspecting Commissioner of Hupeh and Hunan spoke on the conditions now prevalent in China and upon his policy with regard to them.

The General declared that his policy was to support the Central Government and to bring peace to the people of China. He does not hold any special policy himself, but should the Government do anything which he considers contrary to the interests of the people as a whole, he will make every endeavor to rectify the matter and make suggestions for an improved administration.

With regard to the struggle between the North and the South, military operations at present have been stopped. In time the North and the South, in his opinion, will become united under one common Government.

The General considers that Peking can rule the whole of China. "It is not the locality of the Government that matters, but its personnel." The Southern Government does not represent the true public opinion of the Chinese people and it cannot exist much longer.

FAVORS CENTRALISATION

The Central Government acceded to the wishes of the people by promulgating regulations allowing local self-Government. General Wu Pei-fu does not approve of self-government for the Provinces, because, if the Provinces are allowed their own independent Governments, it means that China will be divided into 18 countries, and if the districts declare self-government, then the numbers will be greater.

Again, in Shensi there are three separate parties, and there is the same state of affairs in all the Provinces, and these parties will all wish to set up their own Governments, and so China will be broken up into a hundred little states, all fighting one with another.

The General's ardent wish is one National Government, elected by public opinion and he hopes that the citizens will be models, the one to the other, and the same with towns, cities and provinces. The bribery and corruption now so rampant in China must be swept away and a real sense of patriotism instilled in the minds of all the people.

Speaking about the Szechuenese, General Wu Pei-fu said that he had sent telegrams to their leaders, calling upon them to cease fighting, and, if his messages were of no avail, he was going to send special envoys whom he trusted would be successful in their mission of peace.

SUPPORTS DISARMING

Regarding the Washington Conference, the General supports it as strongly as he possibly can, and he hopes to see, before the adjournment of the Conference, the establishment of a Cosmopolitan Government representing all the countries in the world, with sufficient strength to secure lasting peace in the Pacific. He hopes that President Harding will become the head of this Government which the General considers to be a step forward from the League of Nations. The chief aim of all the countries now should be to exert the whole of their power to preserve peace throughout the world.

The General declared that he was trying with his utmost ability to stop the Northern expedition of Sun Yat-sen, and in furtherance of this desire, had asked the Tuchuns of Chekiang and Kiangsi and Mr. Sun Hung-yi, a prominent politician, to offer their intervention in stopping this expedition.

WANTS PEACE HERE

It is his one desire now the Disarmament Conference is on the eve of sitting, that peace should reign throughout China, otherwise, at the Conference her Delegates will be the laughing stock of the world.

In conclusion, the General declared that in the past public opinion had been manufactured by the politicians, but now true public opinion was at last finding expression and he intended to give every possible aid towards fostering this and thus enable that in the future China should be ruled according to the true wishes of the people, and foreign intervention which would give assistance towards furthering this, would not be objected to but, on the contrary, would be gratefully received.

demarkation of the Hupeh-Szechuen border. The dispute arises from Chihli troops concentrating almost within the Szechuen area, while the Szechuenese strongly object the presence of Chihli-its in their province. An unconfirmed report was received at Hankow last week that hostilities have already been resumed. Another report says that Patung is being dangerously threatened by Szechuen troops.

WU HAS 100,000?

General Wu Pei-fu has telegraphed to Premier Chin Yun-peng that he has entered into an agreement with the Tuchuns of Kiangsu, Anhui, Kiangsi, Shantung and Honan for raising a special force of 100,000 men to relieve Hunan and to attack Kwangtung, according to the Chinese press.

According to recent investigations, says the Chinese press, Warlord Chang Tso-lin has stationed as many as over 40,000 troops on this side of the Great Wall consisting of (a) 8,000 of the 1st Division and 4,000 of the 2nd Brigade at Nanyuan; (b) 600 cavalrymen at Tungchow; (c) 5,000 of the 6th Brigade; (d) 3,000 at Hsiaochan; (e) the whole of the 28th Division at Jehol; (f) one brigade and a body of soldiers formerly under the command of the late President Feng Kuo-chang at Kalgan.

ence and he will also present the programs.

AUSTRALIA FAVORS IT

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Nov. 9.—The Prime Minister, Mr. Hughes, in a speech here today, said that the whole of the British Empire favored disarmament. Australia had most to lose and most to gain from the Washington Conference.

pledged the fullest cooperation of the Advisory Committee, of which he is Chairman.

HOLD NAVY PROGRAM

Washington, Nov. 9.—Reports that the Senate might pass the Pomerene resolution suspending the United States Naval Building Program gained increased credence today when it was known that Senator Pomerene had visited President Harding and urged the propriety of such action as being the best evidence of American good faith.

DENOUNCE ALLIANCE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The latest reports from Washington state that the American Government has decided on the broad lines of its program for the Conference.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance, to which the American public is strongly opposed, will be denounced. It is stated that the pourparlers with Japan have prepared the way for this delicate proceeding and that the American State Department has declared itself satisfied with the conciliatory attitude of Japan.

As to the formula for disarmament, America will advance the principle of equality of the American and British Navies. Moreover the United States and Japan will renounce their plans for bases in the Pacific.

The United States will renounce the fortification of the Philippine, Guam and other islands in the Pacific on condition that Japan renounces the fortification of her possessions in the vicinity of American possessions.

NO OUTLINE YET

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The American delegates to the Pacific conference are in session today. It is believed that the delegation has completed its formula on naval limitations.

It was authoritively stated that no outline of the American suggestions will be given out to the various delegations before the conference meets.

FRANCE TELLS POLICY

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 9.—Premier Briand of France today outlined the general policies of France regarding the Pacific conference. They are:

First, Obligations do not prevent France from considering the limitation or armaments or other questions which the League of Nations considers within its jurisdiction.

Second, The French policy is identical with the American for equal commercial oportunities in China.

Third, Naval restriction presents no difficulty as the French Navy is already below any formula likely to be adopted.

Fourth, France is interested mainly in land armaments and France's ability to pay the debt to America depends on Germany's reparations payments.

STRAUS IN FOREFRONT

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The governing board of the general committee organised by the American Federation of Labor and other organisations to promote sentiment for world disarmament has selected Oscar Straus, former ambassador to Turkey, as its chairman.

BRYAN IS THERE

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 9.—Former Secretary of State Bryan and Mr. Yamashita, who represents the Japanese Peace Society arrived here today to attend the Conference. The latter said he had come to the United States as a youth and was educated at the University of Nebraska, where Mr. Bryan was an instructor.

SEEK PUBLICITY

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The Senate today passed a resolution requesting the American delegates to the Washington Conference to use their influence to have the records of the Conference publishd and to have newspapermen admitted to all full sessions. The resolution said in part: "The Senate believes the greatest publicity to which consideration of the question for which the conference has been called will admit will tend to promote the success of the conference.

Montreal, Nov. 9.—Mr. Balfour landed today. In an interview he said he believed that the Washington Conference would do much to promote a better world.

EDISON WARNS THEM

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Nov. 10.—Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, interviewed here today warns that the delegates are coming to the conference with loaded dice in their pockets.

He says that it is not well to hope for too much. He proposes an agreement to cease naval building for only five years. A longer agreement, he says, would not be kept, because of changing conditions. Nations, he continues, cannot commit themselves too extensively.

"Quantity production of war materials in time of peace is sheer waste," Mr. Edison said. "The whole world must stop it. That is the really big reason for this conference."

Free Prisoners Except Anti-Reds

(Special To The China Press)

Riga, Nov. 9.—Moscow wireless reports say that a thousand prisoners have been ordered released in celebration of the anniversary of the revolution.

This amnesty does not include the hundred important personages who are prisoners as participants in the White Guard plots, armed revolts, espionage and anti-bolshevik cases. Among those released were included bandits, deserters, workmen participating in the Kronstadt revolt, and those charged with non-compliance with orders. Other sentences were communted.

Her Holds Ablaze, Steamer Makes Port

(Reuter's Service)

Antwerp, Nov. 9.—The British steamer City of Rangoon from Cochin has arrived here. A fire broke out in her number two hold, containing an inward cargo of oil, and has not yet been extinguished. The hatches have been battened down and steam injected to extinguish the fire. The extent of the damage is not yet known.

Local Organisations Pay Tribute To Late Y. C. Tong

Funeral services for the late Dr. C. Tong, managing director of e Shanghai Commercial and avings Bank and one of the best nown Chinese citizens in Shang-i, who died following an poplectic stroke on Wednesday, ill be held this morning at the me, 640 Avenue Haig, at 8 clock. The Rev. George A. Fitch ill conduct the service.

Numerous expressions of sorrow d sympathy were received yes-rday by Mr. Tong's family and ring the day the Shanghai otary Club, of which he was one the most active members, and e International Institute, of hich he was treasurer, passed re-lutions of condolence and regret. "A week ago today," said Mr. C. Norman, president of the tary Club, at yesterday's meet-g, "we had with us at our re-lar weekly meeting at the Astor ouse one who was looking for-ard with keen anticipation to is our first 'Father and Son' eeting to which he intended to ing one of his two sons. Today ose two sons mourn the loss of good father, and we, the mem-rs of this club, deplore the loss a friend, whose sudden death s come with such a shock to us.

"One cannot describe adequately words such a man as was Y. Tong—our dear old friend No. His life story you have read the papers, and brief as was the count, you will have realised at his public and private life as one long record of Service his fellow-men, Chinese d foreigners. He was indeed e complete Rotarian in thought ord and deed. Those of us who re privileged to work with him alised this even more fully than ose of you who just met him at r weekly meetings.

"Y. C. Tong had high ideals and ed up to them, and if proof of is were necessary, one need ly point to the fact that busy the malicious tongues of the rld are with the names of hers, never has a word been said ainst Y. C. Tong, the Father of udents and the Friend of Man.

SERVICE HIS MOTTO

"It has been suggested that, as mark of respect, this meeting ould not take place, I am sure at No. 3 would not want that. rry on, would be his express sh if he could but speak to us. e must remember that this eting is a service feature and t a jollification.

"Although we have lost our end in the flesh, his memory ll remain green among us so ng as this club exists, for he was e very embodiment of our motto Service.

"I beg to suggest that we pass a olution along the following es: That the President, Vice-sident, Directors and Members the Rotary Club of Shanghai ve learned with deep grief of e sudden death of their highly eemed fellow-member Y. C. Tong, ectionately known to them as .3. They wish to place on re-rd their keen appreciation of his rting qualities as a Rotarian, his nstant devotion to duty, and his ady and invaluable assistance in matters relating to the affairs the club. And it is further re-ved that the Secretary be in-ucted to send a copy of this re-olution to the relatives of the Mr. Tong, with an expression the Rotary Club's heartfelt mpathy in their irreparable s."

INSTITUTE SORROWS

The following resolution was ered and unanimously adopted by e staff and officers of the Inter-tional Institute:

"Whereas the deceased, Y. C. ng, amid his many arduous ties in public interests and for any good causes, has taken time consider the special interests of e International Institute of China ring the larger portion of its erations in Shanghai, and at two ccessive periods, including the sence of the Director-in-chief in 10-11 and 1917-21, has under any trying circumstances and th rare fidelity and persistency, conscientiousness and prudence, taken chief direction of the affairs of the Institute and safeguarded its finances in loyal regard to the wishes and intent of the donors from many lands and of various religious beliefs; and.

"Whereas the training, personal qualities, adaptation to a great variety of responsibilities and avocations, genial disposition and broad-minded sympathies, fitted him for hearty participation in the Institute task of trying to weld together in friendly accord and with mutual esteem the national, social, religious and cultural distinctions so conspicuous in the community life of this great city of Shanghai; and.

WAS STERLING CHARACTER

"Whereas Mr. Tong's intimate relation to all the staff, officers, and even the changing membership of the Institute, both foreign and Chinese, has been of that true, sterling character and happy hearty spirit, that made his presence always to be desired, and his absence, even though divinely appointed and drafted for larger spheres of usefulness among the Immortals, a sorrow and regret which nothing can assuage save the everlasting grace of the Infinite Friend;

"Therefore be it resolved that the officers of the International Institute of China assembled in the Yen Hall of the Institute on Thursday afternoon, November 10, 1921, the day after the deceased passed away to the Great Beyond, do place in its minutes this expression of profound regard and loving remembrance for days gone by and deeds well done in which our friend and companion rendered unselfish service, and also place on record our expression of deepest sorrow that at last in his strong manhood the line has been drawn that separates activities here from the unfathomed activities, mingled with gladsome rest, of the Unseen World that stretches so far away; and also

"Be it resolved, that to the wife, children and other relatives of the deceased brother our wish and prayer go forth that their consolation may be from above, sure and lasting, bright and buoyant, in strong expectation that through God's good mercy the life lived here will blossom out into the larger life of the greater and more blessed Hereafter."

The meeting also temporarily elected, until the regular meeting of all the members, Mr. Wany I-tang to be treasurer of the incorporation in the place of Mr. Tong.

Riding The Stork Has Its Advantages Over Hearse

little bonnet with a black crepe bow on the left side of the chin and a graceful veil trailing behind has no twin sister in China. For the first period of her relicthood, the Chinese widow wears sackcloth—real sackcloth, too, not the kind worn in Greenwich Village with varnished nut necklaces and worsted embroidery. From this stage she graduates to white, and then, if she is properly conservative, she will add some bluing to the rinsing water of her tears and appear during the final stages of her grief in azure earrings and shoes. Foreign debutantes who have fought the uphill fight with a fetching widow for the attentions of an eligible man will greatly applaud the Chinese custom of placing a bereaved lady on the social scrap-heap. A man, on the other hand, is not under any obligation to go into mourning for his wife and is not even required to attend the funeral.

MOURN SEVEN DAYS

For the first seven days after a death, custom demands that the wife and children sit on the floor beside the coffin, sleeping on mats and eating food without the help of chop-sticks. Funeral cards sent out to friends bring in a harvest of candles, incense, ghost-money to be burned for the benefit of the spirit in the next world, paper models of furniture, automobiles, and anything else that might contribute to showing the spirit a good time in the upper ether.

Three years is the nominal time of mourning for a parent, though present day custom has somewhat shortened the period. During this time the mourners are not to attend the theater, wear silk or jewelery, or have any social engagements.

There is every reason to believe that the death of an Emperor under the old regime was deeply and sincerely mourned—especially by the actors and barbers. Court regulations prohibited anyone from applying for a shave or hair tonic massage for a hundred days, which period represented a somewhat longer spot than the knights of the hot towel found strictly healthful. Theaters were closed for a year, likewise causing longer intervals between rice than even the adaptible Brethern of the Pear Orchard were accustomed to.

EVEN COOLIES HIT

It is fortunate that Chinese marriages are conducted without the aid of clergymen, for otherwise the Oriental skypilots would have had to go into pick-pocketing or some other occupation requiring little initial capital. No marriages could be celebrated among the official population for twelve months or among the mass of the people for a hundred days. Even the wheelbarrow coolies had to mourn by changing the seat covers in their vehicles from red to blue.

Perhaps the strangest ceremonies of the dead to be found in China are the ghost marriages occasionally celebrated between a family which is mourning a son and another that has lost a daughter. The customary betrothal gifts are exchanged, the usual visits paid, feasts are prepared and the bridal rites gone through with red tablets representing the bride and groom. At the end of the ceremony, the two bodies are placed in the same grave and their spirits are thus spared the loneliness of an unmated eternity.

We don't blame the average Chinese, however, for not wishing to exchange the funeral customs of his ancestors for those of the West. A black hearse followed by a lot of closed carriages isn't half as interesting for a spirit to look at as a shoal of embroidered priests, sack-clothed mourners walking in a little white tent, beggar pall-bearers wearing borrowed silk jackets, a coffin covered with a dragon traced in gold thread, and the floating streamers of the Thousand Name Umbrellas.

The largest diamond ever imported into Shanghai, a stone of 102 carats, has been sold by Messrs. Sennett Freres, to the Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Company for $50,000. The diamond was imported by Messrs. Sennett Freres and much has been written about it since it was brought here from Hongkong.

The stone, said to have been worn by Gaby Deslys, was cut in Amsterdam, sold and resold in Java, later was sent to Hongkong and subsequently brought here by Sennett Freres, according to Manager Marcel Heimendinger. It was never worn by the famous Gaby, according to Mr. Heimendinger.

The diamond will be used in an advertising campaign to be launched shortly by the Tobacco Company.

Failure Of Promoter To Abide By Contract Forces Team To Rustle Boat-Fare

Tokio, Nov. 6.—The Seattle semi-professional team, known as the Canadian All Stars, which was brought to Japan in August by the promoter, T. Masuko, has left the management of the Japanese due to his failure to comply with terms made in their agreement.

It is said that Masuko owes each member of the team about Y. 200. Masuko, it will be remembered, is one of the men who disappeared last spring, leaving the two American wrestlers holding the sack for the price of their Japan contract.

The Canadian players have one game each scheduled with Waseda, Keio, Hosei and Meiji universities. There may be two games with Waseda and a couple of games with the University of Washington team which is expected to return to Tokio this week. The money derived from these games will be used to pay steamer passage back to America for the team.

URGES BRITISH GET STUDENTS TO AID TRADE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—A strong appeal for British Commerce to play a greater part in the development of China was made by Mr. Chao Hsin-chu, Chinese Charge D'Affaires, addressing the Rotary Club today. He said that no other country in the world except her Colonies suited Britain's purpose better than China, whose commercial door was wide open to the whole world but particularly to Britain.

He declared that China's great need at present was peace and justice and urged Britain to lend a helping hand, whenever necessary, to ward off foreign interference which tended to damage the sovereignty and independence of China. He denied that internal troubles stood in the way of foreign trade or that foreign assistance was needed to solve China's internal troubles.

Mr. Chao recommended that Britain should grant greater facilities to enable Chinese students to come to Britain and pointed out that there were only 250 Chinese students in England as compared with 2,000 in America, and this was not because the Chinese preferred America to England educationally but was due to America providing facilities and means.

He drew attention to the support of Chinese students in part by America, by means of the indeminity fund which America returned to China and outlined American efforts, notably in welcoming Chinese students to learn practical work in their factories and firms on the West coast, supporting Chinese students while undergoing training and then despatching them home to China, to act as American agents.

Thus America had won Chinese good-feeling and had reaped untold benefits as was evidenced in her increasing trade. Mr. Chao urged Britain to act similarly to their mutual advantage.

Mrs. Gordon-West's Opinion of "Kirby's Sea-Sick Cure"

Park Lane,
February 4, 1912.

Messrs. COLLINS & ROSS,
154 Bermondsey St., London.

DEAR SIRS,

Until my last voyage to New York I dreaded sea travelling. Hitherto I had been so susceptible to sea-sickness that I could not leave my bed during the whole of the voyage. Even when travelling by train I have been obliged to lie down.

Before leaving for New York, I was persuaded to take "KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE" and was surprised to find that I not only avoided sea-sickness, but was entirely free from nausea of any kind. We had very rough seas during the greater part of the voyage, but I took all my meals in the saloon, and never felt better.

I shall never travel without the cure in future. You should make the remedy widely known, for it will be a boon to thousands.

Yours gratefully,
(Signed) MARY GORDON-WEST.

Army And Navy Match On Police Field Today For St. Dunstan's Home Fund

Game Will Be One Of The Feature Events Of The Football Season; Navy Has A Selected Eleven; Shanghai Has Talent Which Assures Good Match

With the meeting this afternoon of the Army and Navy at football on the Shanghai Municipal Police field at 3:30 o'clock, Shanghai will see the feature football match of the season, excepting possibly the finals in the league play.

The match which has become an annual event is for charity, in aid of the St. Dunstan's Home for Blinded Soldiers and Sailors. It will provide excellent football, with a selected Navy eleven and an Army team of ex-service men from Shanghai, all of whom are known for the proficiency at the game.

The Army, which means Shanghai will be represented by Mr. D. W. Leach, of the R. A. F., the Lancaster all round sportsman and interport cricketer, who knows how to handle the ball thanks to his rugby training, protecting goal; Mr. J. A. Quayle (L.C.); Mr. J. Xavier, one of the first to be called out and who served in the French infantry; Mr. T. S. D. Wade, one of the Recs' stars, who was a sergeant major in the Yorkshires; Mr. D. Crawford (R.F.); Mr. W. J. Brown, Royal Garrison Artillery, an old Shanghai Football Club player; Andrew J. Clark, a cricketer and footballer for the Recs who scored often against the Germans in the tanks; Mr. R. M. Ogden (R.M.L.I.), of the Customs; Mr. F. J. Cornell of the M.G.C.; Mr. B. Evans, of the R.A.F.; Torry Wilson, an all round sportsman who has done good service for the Recs as well as for the famous old brigade, the Black Watch; and Reserves: Messrs. A. M. Cameron (Yorkshires); G. H. Norris (Canadians); A. Knox (H.L.I.) and W. R. Smedley.

Captain E. I. M. Barrett will referee.

FOOTBALL GAMES TOMORROW ALL ARE AT HONGKEW

Off Day of Races Closes The Race Course Fields: Only Three Games Billed

Due to the fact that the Race Course will be closed tomorrow on account of the running of the off day of the Autumn Race Meeting, but three league football matches are scheduled, all of which are to be played at Hongkew park.

The program of league match follows:

League 1.—St. Xaviers vs Shanghai Football Club. Referee Mr. Hampson.

League 2.—Portuguese Sporting Association vs the Navy. Referee Mr. Jones.

Jewish Recreation Club vs the Rangers. Referee, Mr. R. Wegener.

The latter match is the one postponed from October 29 because several of the Rangers players were engaged in rowing at Henli.

All matches have the kick-off scheduled for 3 p.m.

Other matches scheduled for tomorrow include one between the Shanghai Public School and St. John's University on the latter's grounds commencing at 3 p.m.

The Xaviers announce the following line up for their match Saturday: Pettersen, goal; Jackson, Oliveros, backs; Schneider, Johnson, Wittsack, half backs; R. Favacho, Tordy, H. Favacho, Alvegeur and McDonald, forwards, and McKenzie, reserve.

The following will play for the Public School: W. Brockett, T. Schneider, A. Reid, A. Remedios, R. Madar, E. Petersen, T. Madar, M. Moosa, J. Johnson, E. Cumine, D. Drake, and Reserves A. Jesu, C. Mahon. The School team will meet at the Palace Hotel at 2:30 p.m.

Yacht Club Holds Final Cruise Sunday

The closing cruise of the Shanghai Yacht Club will be held on Sunday when the yachts will leave the Peking Road jetty at 10 a.m. and cruise to a rendezvous near the Pagoda.

The presentation of prizes won during the year will be made on board the "Foam" during the afternoon.

Hockey League To Organise Tonight

The Shanghai Hockey League will hold its annual general meeting this evening at the Shanghai Rowing Club and transact its business for the new season and organise for play. The meeting will be called at 5:45 o'clock. All those interested in hockey are invited to attend.

MARITIME COMPANY

Today being Armistice Day, the parade ordered for this evening is cancelled.

Recruits are to parade for Musketry Course under the supervision of Headquarters Staff on the Rifle Range, on Tuesday next, the 15th inst. between the hours of 7 to 9 a.m. or 3 to 5 p.m. They can attend either morning or afternoon, whichever suits them best.

The Maritime Company will fire their Annual Musketry Course in December, and only those recruits who have fired their Recruits Course will be allowed to fire the Annual Course with the Company. Therefore recruits are hereby warned not to fail to attend the practices at the Rifle Range next Tuesday.

A shooting match is being arranged between the Maritime Company and the Patrol Section, to take place on the 21st inst. Details will be sent out by the Musketry Committee, but members are asked to reserve this date for the event.

"B" CO., BRITISH

Members are reminded of the November monthly cup competitions which will be fired at the Rifle Range at 6:30 a.m. tomorrow. Conditions will be 1 sighter and 10 shots to count at 200 yards. Service targets and conditions. No slings, pads or windgauges.

The informal dance to take place at the Town Hall tomorrow at 9 p.m. is postponed indefinitely.

Attention is again directed to the Camp, details of which have already appeared in Unit Orders.

The Unit will parade at the drill hall, Foochow Road at 6 p.m! today. Dress: Plain clothes, rifles, bayonets and web equipment. A full attendance is required.

SHANGHAI SCOTTISH

The main event of importance this week is the match with H.M.S. Hawkins which will take place tomorrow at two o'clock, the conditions being the championship course, seven rounds and one sighter at each of the three ranges. All interested are invited to attend.

The Company is now considering the question of mess kit, and from the returns that are being made it is quite evident that the feeling of the Company is in favor of the adoption of this.

PEKING WINS IN INTERCITY GOLF 6 MATCHES TO 2

Captain Takes Five Singles And One Doubles From Tientsin Visitors

Peking, Nov. 6.—The Inter-City Golf Match between Peking and Tientsin was played today on the Peking Golf and Country Club course and resulted in a win for Peking by six matches to two. Singles were played in the morning and four-ball matches in the afternoon.

The day promised to be fine, but soon after the players started the wind got up, and in the afternoon made the conditions very bad, and putting was to a great extent a matter of luck. Major Arden, originally one of the Tientsin team, was at the last moment unable to play owing to an injury, and Mr. Gatcliff took his place, playing with borrowed clubs.

The results were:

Singles

Tientsin	Peking	Result
Walker	Everts	Halved
Gilmore	Brenan	Peking
Douglas	Mieville	Peking
Miller	Foster	Peking
Oldram	Black	Peking
Gatcliff	Stephenson	Peking

Doubles

Sorry, but the handicap weights are not given out until the morning of the race. The information might be obtained by telephone from the Race Club secretary at noon on the day of the race.—Ed.

Osaka Prepares For Far Eastern Games

Kobe, Oct. 29.—Osaka has already started work on one of the largest athletic grounds in the Orient in order to be ready for the next Far Eastern meet to be held there May 20 to June 10, 1923. Osaka was selected as the place for the next meet provided the city can prepare a suitable ground for the event by that time.

Tokio is rapidly completing its athletic ground in the compound of the Meiji Shrine and in case Osaka fails to have its ground ready in time, the next Olympiad will be held in Tokio, for it is Japan's turn to be the host to the Philippines and China.

Some 20,000 tsubo of land is needed to lay out a good athletic ground suitable for the staging of the international games, according to a tentative plan drawn up. There must be a track measuring at least 400 meters in circumference, and a straight course of 200 meters, courts for tennis, and a place for baseball, volleyball, basketball, football and other contests. It is hoped by the promoters to find a place near the beach so that swimming and other acquatic contests can also be held near the main ground. The cost is estimated at approximately Y1,000,000.

Am'n School XI To Meet Light Shanghai Team At Hongkew Park To-morrow

Capt. Wilhoit's Team Will Average 150 lbs or Under; The Big School Eleven will Run To 145; Game Scheduled For 3 p.m.; Should Furnish Excellent Match

A light Shanghai team of American football players will meet the big school team of the Shanghai American School at Hongkew Park tomorrow afternoon commencing at 3 p.m. The school team will weigh in at about 145, and the Shanghai team is arranged so as not to run over 150.

The slight difference in weight in favor of the Shanghai team will be overcome in great measure however by the excellent condition and progress in training made this fall by the American school boys under the direction of Coaches Van Hook and Miller. The boys have been playing interclass matches and have put up an excellent example of the game, and are considered as having the edge on the light untrained team that Capt. Wilhoit will lead against them tomorrow.

At the S. V. C. Drill Hall last night, after the signal workout of the Shanghai team, Capt. Wilhoit figured up his team of lightweights, and he found he was well within the 150 lb. limit required for games with the American School. With the two Hewitt boys, Posner, Libby, and Neal, working in the back field and men almost of equal size at ends the school boys will find the Shanghai offensive even a trifle under their own weight. The Shanghai line will run to a little greater weight, but an average will find it under the 150 lbs. mark.

The American school eleven had its first big eleven workout yesterday afternoon since the disbandment of the interclass elevens. The 'varsity team will rank high in quality with Waters, Squires, Brewster, and its other stars, and with its training and experience on the fields.

Shanghai last night had its third signal practice with the lighter men handling the principal positions. After the practice uniforms were distributed, as far around as they went. No practice will be had tonight because the Drill Hall will be engaged. The Shanghai candidates, big and small, with an emphasis on the lighter men are expected out at Hongkew tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

PEKING REACHES BOTTOM OF ITS FINANCE LOCKER

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 7.—The financial condition of the Chinese Government is reaching, if it has not already reached, a serious crisis, in the refusal of the Bank of Communications to honor a small check presented by the new Minister of Finance, on the grounds that there were no funds and that the bank was not in a position to make any more loans.

The check was for the insignificant amount of $9,000. The Chinese sources from which this news was received, see in the event very serious consequences for the Chinese Government. Mr. Kao Ling-wei, it is said, is absolutely unable to cope with the situation, and can raise no money anywhere, even small amounts. The friends of the Government are still working for the new Minister and it is declared that there is some hope for a small loan of $2,000,000 from the Tientsin bankers, but it is not felt that this amount would carry the Government very far.

Even the Ministry of Communications is having difficulty in raising money to pay off its employes. The Communications Department is considered the richest organisation in the Peking Government, but owing to the large advances that have been made to the Ministry of Finance during the last few months its offers have become as empty as the rest of the Ministries.

News from Chinese sources declares that much indignation has been felt in the Department owing to the inability of the Department to make some small advances upon salaries. A meeting of the minor officials was held on November 6, and protests were made against the holding up of their salaries, which brought them great hardship. Another conference is to be held tomorrow, of the railway, telegraph, and navigations and posts departments, to demand that their salaries be paid at once, and to threaten to resign if this is not done. Both junior and senior clerks will participate in this conference.

INDIGNANT OVER JOBS

There is also much indignation over the removal by Kao Ling-wei of various officials of the old administration to replace them by his own men. Those remaining have decided to relieve the minister of the arduous task of selecting them for removal by submitting a demand for immediate payment of their salaries, which are several months in arrears. They declare they will strike if the demands are not met. The Minister is said to have promised that the demands would be met.

A further symptom of the financial straits of the Government is shown in the report that the Government Gazette will cease publication, owing to the fact that the employes are going on strike, having received no pay for their services. The withdrawal of the support of the Ministry of Finance and the impossibility of collecting outside subscriptions has made this step necessary, according to the reports.

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking Nov. 9.—The finance ministry is in a practical state of disruption owing to Kao Ling-wei not attending to the duties of his office as a protest against the violent objections of Chang Tso-lin to Wang Shih-yuan's assumption of the headship of the salt gabelle. Chang's protest against Wang is due to the fact that the latter is a member of the Chihli faction.

The vice minister and department heads are also absenting themselves fearing a loss of "face." They hear that the new minister plans to replace employes in the department and are enraged at his failure to pay them the money which Pan Fu set aside for their salaries prior to his retirement.

Fathers And Sons To Be Entertained At C. C. Club Tonight

"Fathers and Sons" of Shanghai will be entertained this evening at a banquet at the Columbia Country Club, under the auspices of the Community Church, as a part of the local observance of the "Fathers and Sons" week now being held in America. The banquet will be open to the public and without cost.

At yesterday's regular weekly tiffin of the Rotary Club at the Carlton Cafe ninety-six Fathers and Sons took charge of the program which was turned over by President H. C. Norman of the Club to Mr. W. J. Hawkings.

During tiffin, a group of songs arranged by Mr. George Fitch were sung, and Masters Ed. and William Lockwood gave a selection on the violin and piano.

At roll call every father introduced his "son." Addresses were delivered by Rotarian Holgate on "The Ideal Son as a Father Sees Him;" Rev. F. W. Rowland, "If;" Rotarian A. R. Hager, "Our Sons;" Alex. Moffett, "The Ideal Father as a Son Sees Him;" Charles McDaniel, "Our Fathers;" Rotarian W. E. Souter, "Our Mothers;" Jack Service, "Father and Son in Chengtu," and Rev. Luther Freeman, "Things Father and Son Can Do Together." Newton Strickland delivered a recitation, and there were songs from the Rotary Book.

ULSTER UPHOLDS CRAIG; PREMIER TO MEET PARTY

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—The Ulster Cabinet arrived in London this morning and immediately assembled at the Savoy Hotel to discuss the written proposals submitted to them for an All-Ireland Parliament.

After the meeting it was announced that they unanimously approved the firm attitude maintained by the Ulster Premier, Sir James Craig, in the interests of Ulster.

Mr. Lloyd George has arranged to meet them tomorrow evening to give further information and explanations of the many questions raised. Afterwards the Ulster Cabinet will submit its final replies in writing.

REPORT KIDNAPINGS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—In the House of Commons at question time today Mr. T. W. Brown stated that the police in Ireland had reported 595 breaches of the truce, including 206 cases of kidnaping, in 144 of which the persons had been released and 150 cases of other breaches, related to drilling, etc., and not entailing interference with individuals. He stated that a number of the kidnapers had been punished.

LAST CHANCE TO FEATHER NESTS SAY OFFICIALS

(Dalta News Agency)

Harbin, Nov. 7.—The reported evacuation of Japanese troops has caused grave fears among the officials in the Merkuloff Government at Vladivostok. The Exodus is on. Nicolas Merkuloff and Kolesnikoff, under the pretence of going to the Washington Conference, have left for America. The families of these officials have left Vladivostok long ago.

The Merkuloff brothers are reported to have transferred to British and American banks over 5,000,000 yen. Notorious generals are also leaving Vladivostok on the pretext of going on business. Having experienced the desertion of Semenoff, the officers of the lower ranks are discussing means of saving themselves.

JAPANESE ARE EAGER

Chita, Nov. 7.—In connection with the alleged lamentation of the Japanese residents in the Maritime Province at the reported evacuation of Japanese forces, the Far Eastern Truth says that these residents are no other than the agents of the Japanese gendarmerie.

The whole Japanese people are impatiently waiting for the evacuation as it will enable them to renew business, trade and industrial enterprises with Siberia.

SOVIET SELLS LUMBER

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Nov. 6.—The state trust of lumber industries in northern Russia has sold in the London market 30,000 standards of timber. The Archangelsk Trade Delegation has purchased in England 5,000,000 gold rubles worth of manufactured goods for the northern lumber workers.

GAVE HER BABY RELIEF AT ONCE

What Another Mother Says About Baby's Own Tablets.

Mothers everywhere are finding Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, immensely valuable for their little ones. Here is what an American mother says:

"My baby was much troubled with wind colic", writes Mrs. B. Williams, of Perth Amboy, N. Y., "and nothing seemed to do any good until I tried Baby's Own Tablets. They gave relief at once and I would not be without them. I have taken great pleasure in recommending the Tablets to my friends."

Baby's Own Tablets contain no opiates or narcotics, and are guaranteed an absolutely harmless remedy for infantile indigestion, simple fever, colic, constipation and diarrhoea. They expel worms, allay the pains of teething, promote health-giving sleep and regular development.

Of chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow (by mail), Oct. 15.—Last year an expedition was dispatched from northern Russia to northern Siberia by way of the Kara Sea. Manufactured goods were taken and afterwards exchanged for grain, furs and seal skins. The expedition returned to Archangelsk with 8,800 tons of grain and about 2,400 tons of other goods.

As a result of the expedition, a committee was appointed to consider the possibility of a regular northern sea-route. The committee dispatched two expeditions, one to the Ob and Irtysh Rivers and the other along the Yennisei. Depth surroundings were taken and the river estuaries charted. Wireless telegraphic installations were set up at the mouths of these rivers, and the building of a port was begun on the Yennisei.

Loading parties were organised to float grain down the river, and other goods were collected at the river mouths to facilitate the exchange this year. As navigation in the Kara Sea is possible only for one and a half to two months in the late summer, it is necessary that goods should be collected during the year for immediate loading when the navigation season opens.

Under the auspices of the All-Russian Co-operative Society, Ltd., London, five cargo vessels, accompanied by an ice-breaker, left for northern Siberia in July. The Kara Sea is normally free from ice by August 6; the expedition left Murmansk on August 8. It then divided, and the ice-breaker towed the last of the vessels destined for the Yennisei into that river on August 21. The rest of the expedition arrived safely at the Ob on August 27.

Now according to a recent telegram, the expedition has returned safely to Archangelsk with asbestos, furs, skins, and other materials.

CHINA'S DEFAULT ON LOAN MAY BE TOPIC AT PARLEY

(U. S. Navy Radio Through Reuter)

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—The following editorial, which appeared in the Baltimore Sun, expressed the American feeling best as regards China's failure to meet the small loan extended by a Chicago bank.

"Another example of this is, if we bring distress to China, what security will the bank have exacted. But the point is this: The Peking Treasury has no funds and therefore they cannot pay even the interest.

"Two methods are open, either to renew the loan with higher interest and greater security or to borrow the money from Japan. Thus sooner or later China's resources will be surrendered in concessions, causing in many foreign Powers a desire to exploit her, competing with each other.

"China's weakness brings about and will be the climax of Far Eastern problems in the Conference."

POWERS AID WRANGEL?

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Nov. 6.—The Rumanian papers claim that the Wrangelists in Rumania are maintained by secret contributions of certain powers. The papers also report that England and Japan have agreed to transfer 30,000 Wrangelists to Vladivostok.

Obituary

MR. J. N. JOHNSTON

Military burial services will be held this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock Bubbling Well Cemetery for Mr. James Neil Johnston, affectionately known as "Jack" to a wide circle of friends in Shanghai, and the eldest son of Inspector Johnston of Yangtszepoo police station. Mr. Johnston died early yesterday morning at the Isolation Hospital after but a three days' illness with scarlet fever.

Mr. Johnston was not yet 21 years of age and was employed in the Electricity Department of the Shanghai Municipal Council. Only last Saturday he played football for the Department and on Sunday he was with his battery—the S.V.C. Artillery—in practice at Woosung. Less than two weeks ago he was one of the active participants in the Henli Regatta, being a member of the winning four in the Hong competitions.

Mr. Johnston was formerly a pupil at the Cathedral School for Boys and later attended the Shoreham Grammar School in Sussex. His two brothers are now at Brighton College. His only sister is at present in Shanghai with her father and mother.

MR. G. H. WILSON

Military honors will be accorded the late Private G. H. Wilson, of "B" Company, British, S.V.C., on Saturday at Bubbling Well Cemetery at 3:45 p.m. The office commanding will detail a firing party, who will parade at the cemetery at 3:30 p.m.

COMMUNE WINS CHITA ELECTION

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Nov. 7.—At the Chita municipal election 10,000 votes were cast, of which 5,500 went to the candidate of the combined list of communists and labor organisations, 2,400 to the candidates of bourgeoisie, 440 to the social-democrats and 132 to the social-revolutionaries.

MILITARY MEN COMING

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—According to reports which have reached Peking, the Chita delegation to the Dairen conference is to be reinforced by a "military commission" which has left Chita for Dairen. This commission is understood to have fuller powers than have been exercised by the present delegates and it is expected that the discussions may result in some definite progress following its arrival.

Since the Chita representatives failed in their effort to remove the Conference to Chita or Manchuli, which was made on the plea that the inadequacy of communications between Chita and Dairen left them at a disadvantage the negotiations have been hanging fire.

It is now suggested that Chita's "Military commission" will be found actually to consist of advisors from Moscow and that the representatives of the Far Eastern Republic have recently been playing for time pending their arrival from the Soviet capital. This view is quite unauthoritative, but it is in harmony with frequent reports which have been received here of late regarding a recent renewal of Communist activity in Siberia.

Wire To Ask Need Of Famine Relief

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—With a view to securing information regarding famine conditions throughout China and in a national spirit which some of the provinces should scarcely expect, the Central Famine Relief Bureau has telegraphed to the local authorities in Chihli, Shangtung, Honan, Anhui, Kiangsu, Chekiang, Hupei, Kansu, Shensi, Kweichow, Szechuan and Hunan asking for full reports regarding famine conditions in their respective provinces, giving details concerning the number of people affected and the amount of material assistance required.

The telegrams also suggest that provincial delegates should be sent to Peking to co-operate with the Central Bureau in its relief work.

1,000 MARINES ACT AS GUARD FOR U. S. MAIL

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, Nov. 8.—Postmaster-General Hays announced today, after conferring with General Lejeune, the Commandant of the Marine Corps, that 1,000 marines will be ordered to duty guarding trucks and mail trains and also post-offices in fifteen cities. The marines will be supplanted later with a guard recruited from the postal service.

Mr. Hays also announced that three officers of the New York Post Office had been suspended as a result of the recent robbery. They are Messrs. E. M. Norris, Superintendent of Mails, Henry Lippman, Superintendent of Registry, and W. S. Mare, Superintendent of Money Orders.

New York, Nov. 10.—A thousand marines have been detailed to fulfil the role of handymen as guards on mail trains throughout the country in consequence of attacks by robbers.

The Postmaster General reports that during the year, ended in April, the Department lost $7,500,000 through mail robberies and the attacks have since increased.

HONGKONG WILL WIRE

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 10.—A public meeting, held today under the auspices of the League of Fellowship and Service, at which the Governor presided, has passed a resolution to telegraph to President Harding the following on the occasion of the opening of the Washington Conference:

"A public meeting of residents of Hongkong sends greeting to the Conference and expresses its earnest hope for a just and permanent settlement of the problems of the Far East and the Pacific."

Peggy Joyce Gets Cash And Jewels Worth $880,000

Chicago, Nov. 9.—"Peggy" Hopkins-Joyce, former chorus girl, who came into international prominence through the suit for annulment brought by her husband, J. Stanley Joyce, multi-millionaire Chicago lumberman, has agreed to settle her marital difficulties out of court.

This became known today when the hearing to annul the marriage was opened before Judge Joseph Sabath. Attorneys for both "Peggy" and her husband announced that the settlement had been reached.

Under the terms of the agreement, "Peggy" gets $80,000 in cash, two fur coats and jewels valued at $800,000. In the preliminary proceedings, "Peggy" had coolly declared that she could get along on nothing less than $120,000 a year as temporary alimony.

Compradore Charges Relative With Theft

Theft of jewelry valued at $5,304 was charged to a relative, one Kwai Zau-ling, by Dzung Kwei-ding, compradore for Messrs. Mackenzie and Company, in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Mr. Dzung alleges that a small safe, containing the jewelry, was removed from his home in Chapei by the defendant and that the valuables were pawned in the Settlement. The Chinese police effected the arrest of Kwai and Detective Sergeant Yorke, of Central station, has recovered a part of the jewelry. It is charged that Kwai distributed the pawn tickets among a number of friends in the Settlement and the case was remanded for one week to allow the police time to try and recover more of the stolen property.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November, 10, 1921.

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 5/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 67⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 394⅜.

The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Gold Dollar rate which was raised to 74.

The market throughout the day was steady, business in Sterling being done at rates varying between 3s. 9⅛d. and 3s. 9⅛d. for November delivery and at about 3s. 9d. for December Gold Dollars were done at 75¼ for cash, 75 for November and 74¼ for December.

The market closed perhaps a shade easier, with buyers rather than sellers of Sterling at 3s. 9d. for December and good buyers of Gold at 74⅛.

There were small sales of Silver in London yesterday with no buyers—hence the decline. The undertone of the market however is quoted as being steady.

MARK MAKES GAIN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—German marks on London provided another sensation today following a rally at yesterday's close at 1125. They commenced at about 1000 and under renewed buying, including legitimate trade purchases, went to 925 and finished at 970.

BOOM NOW IS ON

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—German marks in London and Berlin were quoted today at 1220.

The Financier comments that in view of the statements on conditions of trade in Germany, contained in the monthly report of the Prussian Ministry of Trade, the present boom far exceeds that of the winter of 1919-20.

The journal states that it is not surprised that the Reparations Commission has decided to investigate these conditions on the spot and adds that for a State to declare itself unable to meet its obligations while its citizens are making enormous profits is a situation that seems to call for drastic assertion of authority on the part of the State.

Japanese Politics After Hara

BY JOSEF W. HALL

WHAT is to be the effect upon Japanese politics, internal and foreign, of the violent removal of the first party leader to head the empire's government can be confidently predicted by no one, and the Japanese embassies and legations are awaiting for the situation to resolve itself with as great a feeling of uncertainty as those who have no opportunity to be informed of the inner workings of Japanese governmentation.

That the political assassin should be a "Narrow Nationalist" is a great negative victory for the liberal and radical element in Japan, just as his being a radical would be a victory for the junkers. The situation is parallel to that created by the murder of Erzberger in Germany. The socialists are, as yet, such a small factor numerically that their influence will hardly be felt nationally unless unexpected circumstances should throw Japan into temporary lawlessness. In such event the laborers, who would dominate the industrial cities, would, as in Russia, assume an importance out of all proportion to their numbers. The present is a period of great labor unrest in Japan, and such an eventuality, although remote, is not impossible.

It is more likely that the real sympathy of the laborers will go to the Seiyukai, their old enemy, in a mutual feeling of rejuvenated hatred against their greater enemy, the militarists. The connection of the Kenseikai with the militarists, through its party leader, Admiral Kato, and moreover the Admiral's absence in Washington, would seem to be against the opposition party's profiting by the situation.

It must be held in mind that the Seiyukai has nearly one-third majority in the lower house. If party leaders can so keep things in hand as to avoid an appeal to the nation (it is feared that re-elections might open the door to the activities of extreme elements, with unforeseenable results) there is no reason why the party's control of the government should not be maintained. Partyists must produce a leader big enough to succeed to Hara's control, and strong enough to compel the adherence of all factions within the party and maintain intact the party machine. This internal problem of the Seiyukai party is a most anxious matter for the entire Japanese people as well as for foreign powers, the definition of whose Pacific interests must await the reorganisation of the Japanese government.

It is generally admitted that Takahashi, Minister of Finance, is the most able administrator in the cabinet. But Takahashi is not in the party machine. He is inclined to independence, as evidenced by his recent statement that he is planning next year's budget without the inclusion of the Siberian Occupation Army's expense. Nada, Minister of Communications, is the machine man. He has been known as Hara's whip, and the unofficial "Vice-Premier." Although Viscount Uchida, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has because of seniority (in the absence of Admiral Kato) assumed temporary head of the government, it is really Nada who holds the reins. Can Nada openly assume the seat of his patron, which he has repeatedly filled in secret? This is the question to be settled at the coming Seiyukai meeting at Osaka, which was to have been held on November 9, but is now postponed, and on his way to which Premier Hara was murdered. The conference over which Hara was to have presided is to decide his succession, and its party politics will determine whether his death is to constitute merely as a tragedy or a national crisis.

Any failure of the Seiyukai to maintain its unity and position will be promptly seized by the discordant opposition elements, which are so alike in lack of preponderance that the outcome of such an eventuality can hardly be anything other than anarchy. The opportunity for Seiyukai reorganisation is given by Admiral Kato's absence.

None of the events which have followed in the wake of the assassination is more enlightening in regard to Japan's changed political condition than the attempted convocation of the Council of Elders, or Genro. As on occasions of grave danger to the state, the Emperor summoned these men, now numbering only four: Yamagata, Okuma, Matsukata and Saionji. Yamagata was seriously ill, Okuma lay at death's door, Matsukata and Saionji felt their inability to attend in the absence of their seniors.

The incident marks the passing of the Genro. A bit pathetic, it is one of the significant occurrences of a nation's history, and of a century's record.

The old sanctions have passed, and a nation, proud, virile, with the arrogance born of repeated success and unbounded self-confidence in its own unity, stands for the first time since it entered world politics without the revered guidance which was the core of its unity. Factionalism which was trivial while this powerful guidance remained now assumes importance. If the Seiyukai can find a new leader it will be only a temporary measure. The nation must evolve new rules of national life, which will bring to the fore their own proponents.

The Japanese are by psychology conservative. We do not expect manifestations such as France and Russia produced. The change will rather, it appears, be similar in nature to that which we have seen in Germany. Whether it can culminate without the complete defeat of the jingoes, and the disillusionment of the masses as to the ability of their militarists to benefit them, is doubtful. Yet there is hope. The Japanese are a practical people.

Measure Traffic Shocks

New Device Records Results Of Traffic On Bridges

A new instrument devised by the New York Bureau of Public Roads measures with scientific precision the effect of every shock and blow delivered by moving vehicles in crossing a bridge. Attached to any part of the bridge structure, this instrument makes a photographic record of the effect of the moving load. The amount of stretching or shortening of the part as a result of the shocks is represented by a fine black line on the photograph.

No blow or shock can be delivered so quickly that the instrument will not record its effect. It has never before been possible to measure the effect of such blows. Engineers have long been able to calculate the effect of standing loads exactly, but because of their inability to measure the effects of quickly delivered blows or impacts, they have never been able to proportion the various parts of a bridge with absolute assurance. It has been necessary to make a liberal allowance for this unknown quantity. In some cases the allowance has not been sufficient and the bridges have collapsed under the moving loads.

Many bridges still in service are probably too weak to withstand safely the sharp blows of swiftly moving vehicles, though they will safely carry the same vehicles at rest or moving at slow speed. The familiar warning posted at the portals of a bridge, "Speed limit on this bridge eight miles per hour," means that the design of the bridge to which it is attached is not strong enough to allow for impact. In the light of the recent experiments with motor trucks in which it was shown that a swiftly moving motor truck may strike a blow equivalent to seven times its actual weight, it is rather surprising, the department road experts say, that failures have been so few.

It is believed that the new measuring instrument will soon do away with the uncertainty. The knowledge gained by its use will enable the engineer to design bridges which are sure to hold up under fast-moving vehicles, and to build such bridges without undue waste of material and money.

Primarily the device measures, at desired distances, how the burden of traffic is distributed through the roadbed to the soil on which it rests. A thick roadbed lightens the load on every square foot of underlying earth or rock; a thin one places thereon more weight. How far distant from the surface point of contact—where load meets road—the weight is distributed and the possible formula for its distribution are being determined by experiment. When the facts are fully known and the traffic burden on the near-by and underlying soil is accurately measured, road makers will have a valuable guide as to the thickness of the roads they should construct on varying kinds of subsurface.

Foreign-Born Officers In U. S. Services

A glance through the recent issues of the official registers of the Army, the Navy and the Marine Corps discloses the fact that there are now in the regular armed services of the United States 587 commissioned officers who were born under foreign flags. Among these officers are some of the most distinguished in the American service, as, for instance, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, who was born in Canada; Colonel Carl Gemborg-Andresen of the Marine Corps, who first saw the light in Norway, and Colonels Edson A. Lewis, Leon S. Roudiez and George Montgomery, who were, respectively, born in Canada, France and Ireland.

The foreign-born officers of the navy came to America from twenty-four foreign countries, those in the army from nineteen and the Marine Corps from twelve, the British Empire leading with 311 officers, Germany second with 92 and Sweden third with 45. The fourth place goes to Norway with 19, with Austria fifth with 18.

Of the Officers born under the British flag 104 were born in Canada, 94 in England, 63 in Ireland and 28 in Scotland, the others representing practically all of the British colonial possessions with the exception of South Africa and some of the Oceanic possessions.

Of the total foreign-born personnel 324 are in the navy, 207 in the army and 56 in the Marine Corps.

Here are the foreign-born lists for each of the services:

The foreign-born list of the navy includes five Captains and six Commanders. Of the Captains three were born in England, one in Scotland and one in Canada, the English-born officers being Captain John J. Hyland, the commandant of the First Naval District; Captain Stuart Farrar Smith of the Construction Corps, and Captain Louis J. Connelly, commanding the Hartford. Captain Wilbert Smith of the Boston Inspection District is the Canadian-born, while Captain William Nicholson Jeffers of the Operations Division of the Navy Department is the Scottish-born Captain.

Of the Commanders, John W. Lewis and John Grady were born in Canada, Owen Bartlett and M. M. Frucht in England, David Lyons in Wales and Emil V. Svarz in Austria.

In addition to the three Colonels already named the army's foreign-born list includes Colonel Hugh J. Gallagher, who is Canadian-born; Matthias Crowley, who came to America from Ireland, and Carl Reichmann, who was born under the old imperial flag of Germany. The Lieutenant Colonels are Robert U. Patterson, Reuben B. Miller, Whaley M. Arthur, Ernest D. Scott, Robert H. Mills, F. L. K. LaFlamme and Thomas H. Jackson, all of whom are Canadian-born. The English-born Lieutenant Colonels are Charles R. Lloyd, Edward T. Donnelly, Lewis S. Sorley, while those of this rank who were born in Ireland are Robert J. Fleming and John O'Shea. Lieut. Col. Robert E. Wylie was born in England and Lieut. Col. F. L. Knudson in Norway.

The Cornerstone Of Bliss

BY FREDERIC BOUTET

Translated by William L. McPherson

"As usual, we have arrived at the station an hour ahead of time," said Simone, in an irritated tone, as she took her seat in the car.

Robert Prizale was so afraid of missing the train that he had set his watch an hour ahead and had hurried up their preparations for departure.

"Did we get here so much too soon?" he said. Simone stamped her foot on the floor. Her charming little figure shook with indignation.

"That's a man's honesty for you! And it's the same with everything else."

An older couple climbed into the car and took seats. Simone lowered her voice, but continued the dispute, becoming so aggressive the Robert answered her sharply.

They had been married four years, and had quarreled thus three or four times a week on an average. Simone always opened hostilities on one pretext or another, generally trifling, for Robert rarely did anything to offend her.

Very patient at first, he had tried to soothe her, but without success. She became more exasperated and savage, seeking to wound him, and quickly succeeding in doing so. She had an excellent weapon. She used to say that he made her more unhappy than her first husband had done, although she had separated from the latter after a very brief union. Robert knew this first husband slightly and the memory, thus evoked, awakened in him an intense jealousy. So he also became furious, and the two exchanged biting words and unjust reproaches until exhaustion and Simone's tears brought a period of calm, followed by a reconciliation.

Simone, relieved and tranquillised, then became once more the exquisite woman whom Robert adored. The after-effects of their quarrels were so delicious that he would not have regretted the quarrels themselves had they been a little less violent and bitter. But Simone, when she was enraged, seemed so odious and said such insulting things that he sometimes doubted whether she loved him.

Simone remained in a state of tension during the whole trip. It was only after they reached the watering place where they going for a few weeks that she could relax her nerves by a scene with a real climax. It came that evening in a tete-a-tete with her husband, in their room at the hotel.

In the days that followed the world saw them in perfect accord, at the hotel, in the restaurant, at the casino, on the boardwalk, although they were inwardly distant and hostile and exchanged only a minimum of polite words. But Simone's animosities couldn't find any satisfaction in the thin pastures of a glacial aloofness or a frosty disdain. It was necessary for her to express her feelings in vehement language. She did this sometimes, in public, whispering her abuse into the ear of her fidgeting husband. It was in their hotel room, however, that the crises were staged more effectively—so well, in fact, that the neighbors were made completely aware of their troubles. In these moments, when love is eclipsed by anger, they had the air of hating each other and of being, both of them, the victims of a detestable union.

One evening (by some miracle they had just spent three days without wrangling) they were sitting at a tea table in the salon of the hotel. Because Robert at dinner had looked at a young woman a little too decollete Simone started a violent discussion, which was so much the more fiery because she had been treasuring up her indignation during the repast. Robert had for some time been opposing only a pacificatory silence to his wife's unjust accusations. When Simone launched a scene he knew that it must run its course and that the best thing to do was to end it as quickly as possible.

So he told her that other women, too, wore their dresses cut very low. They did this, to attract attention. They shouldn't be astonished, then, if their neighbors also attracted attention. Simone took this as a direct attack and became even more inflamed, for Robert was drawing inferences reflecting on her morality. Thoroughly incensed, conscious of her own virtue (for showing a beautiful neck and shoulders in public is a woman's natural right, if she has them, and is, at the worst, only a harmless bit of coquetry), she explored in the harshest incriminations, and her rising voice carried to all the adjoining tables. Robert was greatly annoyed.

"Well, you have had enough of this sort of life," he said. "So have I."

Suddenly she saw him give a start.

"Calm yourself! Say nothing! Don't answer me, please," he implored Simone in a tone so changed, so low and so tender, that she was dumfounded.

"What is the matter?" she asked, still trembling with anger, but a little uneasy. "Are you ill?"

"I never felt better in my life, my dear. You are always a thousand times too considerate where I am concerned," he said in a loud voice, bending toward her and smiling radiantly.

It was so unexpected, in the midst of their altercation, that Simone was nonplussed.

Her husband continued to talk to her in the same affectionate manner until they went upstairs.

"Will you tell me what happened?" Simone began, when they were alone, "and why you feigned so much tenderness? Was it to make sport of me?"

"My dear Simone, we mustn't have any more disputes here.

"In the first place, we don't have any disputes. I have made just observations and you take them in bad part."

"Well, don't make any more. Restrain yourself. You must. Don't ask me why."

Naturally, she insisted on knowing why.

"I didn't want to tell you. But since you force me to do so, Paul Vernaud is here."

"My first husband!" exclaimed Simone.

"Yes. He's been here for the last three days. He has a room in this hotel, on our floor. He passed us the other day when you were talking to the chambermaid. He recognised us, I am sure. I hoped that he would be tactful enough to change his hotel. He hasn't done so. And we, you understand, can't afford to have the appearance of running away from him. This evening he entered the tea-room. Your back was to the door, so you didn't see him. He took a seat on the other side of the curtain of green plants. He could hear us. That is why. You understand that we can't let him think that we are not happy. These scenes which you make, my dear—I forget them, although they are sometimes trying. But suppose he should hear them! You see, he would believe. . . . He would have the pleasure of believing us a family at odds, a disunited, unhappy household. I don't want that to happen."

He stopped, finding it somewhat difficult to explain clearly what he thought. Simone had listened to him in silence. At first she was astonished. Then she burst into a laugh.

"My poor friend, was that why you acted so downstairs? How foolish you are! It's just the other way. If I make scenes—as you call them—it is because I love you. Yes, because I love you—because I am sensitive, because everything that you do affects me very keenly. You understand, don't you? He knows that very well, you may be sure. He knows from experience. Yes (she blushed and seemed a little flustered), when after three years I didn't make scenes any more it was because I had become indifferent. And then we were divorced."

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—1. Why is it that a pony which wins the Shanghai St. Leger does not run in the Champions?

The Leger (Tls. 1,500) is the most valuable prize of the meeting (bar Champions) yet its winner, "The Peacock" does not run again.

2. Only nine winners competed in the Champions whereas about 20 ponies had won races qualifying them for the big event. Doubtless several had not much chance but surely a large field of winners would make the Champions a more sporting event.

3. Why run the Champions on the Wednesday, any way?

It seems to me that Saturday is the obvious day for the Champions for that would enable ponies qualifying on Wednesday to have a rest and an equal chance with Monday and Tuesday winners. For example, "Wilson" won a 1¼ mile race on Wednesday afternoon in 2.40 2-5 which is only 4-5 of a second behind "The Hawk's" qualifying time.

Obviously "Wilson" could not be put to it twice within an hour.

Furthermore, by running the Steeplechase on Wednesday, the winner could likewise compete in the Champions. Why not? Still furthermore, would not the glad ones over a Saturday's Champions have all Sunday to recover in, and the sad ones—to repent in?

Sunday's sun would shine on winners and sinner alike.

The big sweep could very well be drawn at the close of Wednesday's sport so that the numbers could be published in Thursday's paper, thus giving people a chance to deal with their tickets, should they wish, and most certainly keying up interest for the Saturday event.

At present the Shanghai Champions, which has become one of the most important racing events of the world (judged monetarily) is a somewhat tame affair.

4. How is the Champions drawn? Do 45,000 pills go into one drum at one time, or how is it done?

No newspaper man in this town seems to know, or surely one of them would make a big story out of the Drawing of the Champions.

I know I could.

How is the thing done, who does it, and so on and so forth?

It is all of considerable public interest. Perhaps knowing readers will expound these questions?

If the Winner of the Leger is not good enough to run in the Champions, why make the Leger the premier event?

I should like to see Griffins and Junior Jockeys having a cut at The Champions and would make it obligatory for every winning pony to compete in the big event, for that, to my mind, is the essential meaning of The Champions race, The Winner of the Winners!

I am etc.

Teach Music A New Way

BY NANCY WOODS WALBURN

As a musical authority who is revolutionising methods of teaching music to children, Mrs. Justine Ward, daughter of the late William Bayard Cutting, now abroad doing further musical research, has won wide recognition, says a New York Exchange. Yet to thousands of formerly rebellious youngsters, kept at the piano until the slow-moving clock got around to the appointed hour of liberation, Mrs. Ward will long be known as the person who magically banished the drudgery of music lessons. For under her skillful touch music becomes to children a new vocabulary through which they express themselves with the utmost flexibility of mood and form.

Taught by this method, average everyday children of six or eight years express themselves in spontaneous, harmonious melodies of their own composition. They play and compose, as much at home with the musical scale as other children of their age with their blocks. This does not mean that they are priggish little prodigies or even musically inclined. But their approach to music has been made from a viewpoint that reduces to childish language the most difficult and intricate musical forms. Founded and endowed by Mrs. Ward in 1918, and already widely recognised by musical authorities and educators in America as well as in Europe, where the Ward textbooks are being translated into French for use in schools in France, the Justine Ward method is still little known to the general public.

It is largely due to the active support of Mrs. Adrian Iselin, President of the Auxiliary Committee, at whose home, 711 Fifth Avenue, a demonstration was given last Winter; Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt, Honorary President; Mrs. Winthrop Chanler, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Mrs. Norman Ream and others of the Auxiliary Committee that the training courses for supervisors and teachers, which are open to the public, are already carried on in many cities, despite the fact that the work is still in its initial stage.

As the College of the Sacred Heart it was learned that the system is an outgrowth of Mrs. Ward's research for the restoration of the Gregorian Chant, the earliest musical form used in the Church of Rome centuries ago.

"From the first step music is interpreted from the viewpoint of a child of six," explained Mother G. Stevens, R. S. C. J., executive head of the method. "For example, Do is presented as a member of a large family, all of whose brothers and sisters we are to learn to know. He is introduced as one of our fingers, here, the little finger. Like Johnny or any other little friend, he has a picture, so he is what he looks on the board. Like Johnny, whose voice we recognise, Do has a sound—do. This original note, out of which the whole system develops, must be pure in quality so that the voice may be well placed and beautiful from the start.

"The children are told that music is a beautiful new language in which these notes and their families are in motion or rhythm. They are shown that this movement is up and down by raising and lowering the hand and rhythm, by beating time or skipping to 2 or 3 time. They are asked to listen and see if they can't hear the difference and describe it."

After Do, Re is learned the children are put into musical composition by being asked to use them in different combinations. Thus with the first timed Do, Re, Do, or Re, Re, Do, when the teacher has only said Do, Re, their creative instinct or "musical speech in the new language" is given expression. Likewise their ear is trained by ear tests, telling what their playmate or teacher hums, or by singing "inside" (mentally) what teacher writes in numbers.

In this way the scale is built up, the children hear the notes and constantly give them back in original combinations or melodies of their own. Asked how discords were avoided in these first juvenile efforts, Mother Stevens smilingly explained:

"From the first they are gradually learning to think in terms of real music. Attention to harmony underlies each lesson. It is pointed out that the tones are divided into families, and that each family gets along well together. All they need for two and three-part writing is the tonic chord known to them as the Do family, the dominant as the Sol family and the subdominant as the Fa family. They go easily from chord to chord. Do, Me, Sol, they learn, are notes of repose, very quiet, but that the other notes are very active and love to run and skip about. Also that La is like a little baby who always cries for Sol, and in using La in a little melody it wouldn't be pretty or happy without Sol. Later, they learn that each tone has a second little rechord, and if he is out to dinner he can run in and take his place. Likewise, in the wordless Sofas, we ask them to listen and see if their little friends the opening notes don't come back in the refrain, and how pretty and friendly it makes all the other notes. This leads to the suggestion that they give a musical conversation of their own with the same notes creeping in and out. Never before have they been asked to think in music for themselves. Thus, you see, good music from their own ear, taste and creative impulse come as naturally to them as speech."

A child of ten, who is far from a leader in her class, wrote upon the blackboard for the others to sing a spontaneous little melody which she called "the discouraged musician."

"It was an exquisite plaintive little thing, full of minor thirds and halftones that fairly poured out weary discouragement," commented her teacher. "A composition on discouragement that child couldn't have written in words to save her life, but here she was expressing it perfectly in music."

It is the belief of the originator of the method that music is a thing of beauty by itself and does not need to be upholstered with even beautiful words. "A child quietly happy alone at play rarely puts his happiness into words," it was pointed out. "It composes and hums without words. We object to children being allowed to sing too many songs with words, vocalising on the English vowels and syllables that are not musical themselves before they learn to place the vowels properly."

Despite its comparatively recent introduction the method is now being taught by over 3,000 teachers in forty cities in America and Canada. Five exclusive private schools in America all of a non-sectarian nature, have only very recently adapted it into their curricula. The Fall term for teachers and supervisors, consisting of thirty-hour sessions for each year's work, is being taught by Mother G. Stevens, R. S. C. J. Upon payment of a small registration fee, these courses are open to the general public without restrictions. Throughout, the course is given in nontechnical language for the non musician.

A Coffee Discovery

According to an Arabian legend, Hadji Omar, a pious Dervish, was outlawed from Mocha in the year 1285. When almost dying of hunger in the wilderness, he roasted some of the small round berries he found growing wild in the thickets. A few of the roasted berries accidentally fell into his drinking water, and thus coffee was discovered.

Chinese Creditors of Banque Industrielle To Hold Meeting Here

The calling of a general meeting of Chinese creditors of the Banque Industrielle de Chine has been decided upon by the Chinese Bankers' Association, which held a meeting to consider the matter yesterday.

The general meeting will take place November 16 at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, North Honan Road, when the creditors will discuss and decide upon the attitude which they are to assume toward the transactional settlement and will draft a telegram for transmission to the head offices of the Banque in Paris.

Flanders Poppies To Be Haig's Gift To Unknown Hero

London, Nov. 9.—The troops, taking part in the ceremony before the Cenotaph in Westminster Abbey on Armistice Day, will include three hundred ex-service men.

Earl Haig will place on the Cenotaph a cushion, composed of Flanders poppies with "From Douglas Haig" written in bay leaves.

The new stone tomb to the Unknown Warrior will be unveiled. It consists of marble from Waterloo with an inscription in brass letters set in the marble. Eight men have been occupied day and night for a month past in handdrilling the inscription. A "remembrance poem" will be recited in the theaters.

Mixed Court Jottings

Mathieu Fergel, a Russian, describing himself as a merchant and living on Jukong Road, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on the charge of attempting to obtain money by a trick from a tobacconist's shop. It is alleged that he went to a shop at 407 Lloyd Road and tendered $10 for a tin of cigarettes, receiving $9.50 in change. According to the complainant he then said the cigarettes were too expensive and asked the return of his $10. When the bill was tendered him he pushed $4.50 across the counter and ran. He was pursued and caught and the $5 note was found in his sleeve, the shopkeeper declared. When searched at the police station Fergel was found to have over $500 in his pockets. The case was remanded for hearing by the Consular Body's Assessor for Russian cases.

The special Traffic Court heard twenty-four cases yesterday, practically all being the result of minor of infringements of the regulations. Fines ranging from $5 to $25 were assessed.

Daily embezzlements of from $5 to $10 dating back to July 1919 have been charged to a bookkeeper and a shroff employed by Edward Evans and Son. The case was remanded a week to permit further examination of the books.

The keeper of a lodging house at 45 Hoopeh Road was fined $50 yesterday for allowing opium smoking on the premises and for failing to keep a correct register of guests.

A Chinese who concealed himself just before the closing hour in the Sincere Company's store and was later caught by the watchman as he was trying to escape with $1,500 worth of skins and furs, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment yesterday.

The keeper of an opium den at 315 Stone Bridge Road was sent to jail for two months yesterday. Ten patrons of the place who were rounded up in the raid were fined $5 each.

The proprietor of a teashop at 1414 Mokanshan Road was fined $10 yesterday for allowing gambling on the premises. Twenty gamblers were fined $2 each.

Strauss Is Given Honor On Belated Return To Canton

(China Press Correspondence)

Hongkong, Nov. 3.—Admiral Strauss, Commander-in-chief of the United States China Fleet arrived at Canton by the morning train from Hongkong yesterday, accompanied by his wife, daughter and aides. Mr. Leo Bergholz, the United States Consul General, was at the station to receive the distinguished visitor.

The Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Frank W. Lee, and his assistant, Mr. Wang Kin-hsun, welcomed Admiral Strauss on behalf of Governor Chen.

A guard of honor from the Army and Navy presented arms when Admiral Strauss left the train.

The Admiral's visit to Canton is of purely a personal nature, reports the Canton Times. He was here thirty-five years ago, and being in Hongkong, could not resist the temptation to take a run up to Canton, and see for himself the changes that have taken place since his last visit.

The American community will entertain Admiral Strauss during his brief stay. The American Consul will be the host at a dinner party to be given in honor of the Admiral tonight.

After doing some shopping in Canton, the Admiral will leave for Hongkong on Friday.

Miners Hope Ended By Premier's Word

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—Mr. Lloyd George today received the Miners' Executive at Downing Street and confirmed the Government's refusal to pay the miners a subsidy of £3,000,000, the unexpended balance of the Government's subsidy of £10,000,000 to the mining industry.

Big Booty Lost By Train Robbers

(Special To The China Press)

Paxton, Ill., Nov. 9.—Bandits held up an Illinois Central express train to New Orleans here today and seized all the registered mail. They ordered the engineer to disconnect the mail car and made their escape in an automobile.

A mail pouch containing $100,000 is believed to have been the bandits' objective. It was found besides the track. The bandits had apparently overlooked it. Postoffice officials at Chicago announced that the bandits got only $400.

A dozen bandits participated in the robbery. Three took care of the engineer, while the others assisted in bombing and dynamiting the safe, looting, and protecting themselves. The robbery took an hour. Two mail clerks, a porter, a fireman, and one passenger were shot, the porter seriously. One mail clerk was beaten over the head with a revolver.

GREEKS PUT OUT BY THE KEMALISTS WHEN FRENCH GO

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Nov. 9.—The newspapers learn that Greeks and other Christians in Cilicia have been given twenty days to leave the territory evacuated by the French and occupied by the Kemalists. The Greek Government is considering measures to assist the refugees.

BRITAIN DID OBJECT
(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—With regard to the statements in the French press that Britain never objected to the agreement between M. Briand and Bekir Sami Bey on March 11, it is authoritatively stated that on the contrary the British Government objected very strongly and only discontinued its protests when it was clear that the agreement was a dead-letter owing to the refusal of the Angora Government to ratify it.

The new Franco-Kemalist Agreement goes farther than the old on many important points. For example, it declares that the state of war between France and Turkey is at an end, whereas the March Agreement only spoke of cessation of hostilities.

It is thought strange that France should conclude a separate peace with Angora when the British Government in conversations with the Greek delegation in London unwaveringly adhered to the principle that negotiations with belligerents should only be conducted by the Allies in union.

FRENCH STAND
(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—A semi-official statement denies that the Franco-Turkish Agreement for the new treaty was unknown to the British Government. It declares that it is identical with the old agreement, the text of which has been in the hands of the British Government since April 4 with the exception of insignificant modifications. It is not opposed to the Treaty of Sevres because the latter implicitly lapsed when the Allies invited the representatives of the Angora Government to come to London.

The statement concludes saying that France has confined herself to terminating hostilities on the Syrian frontiers and the Agreement, by hastening the return of peace in the East, will serve the interests of the Christian minorities everywhere and calm people's minds in the British Dominions.

(Reuter's Service)

Beyrut, Nov. 3.—The news of the signing of the Franco-Turkish Agreement ending the state of war was greeted with the utmost satisfaction in Syria and Lebanon. The French High Commissioner was the recipient of many tokens of gratitude from the Moslem elements.

General Pelle, the French High Commissioner in Constantinople, in an interview expressed his confidence in Franco-Turkish relations soon developing into fruitful cooperation.

U.S. NEW NOTE TO CHINA STRONGER THAN FIRST ONE

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The State Department today issued a statement that the United States representations to China regarding the default on the Continental and Commercial National Bank loan are evidently misunderstood.

It declared that the United States told China that non-payment might seriously injure China's chances in the Conference and will make it difficult for the United States to continue recognising the Peking Government. Minister Schurman was instructed to call China's attention seriously to the non-payment with special regard to China's credit with other nations.

ELECTRICITY
COOKING MADE EASY.

¶ Electric cooking avoids not only the serious waste of meat inseparable from old-fashioned methods of cooking, it avoids waste of all kinds—waste of some of the most valuable products of a joint, and waste of delicate flavor.

¶ The much discussed saving in the weight of meat which follows from electric roasting has now been proved. The saving is owing to no particular virtue of electricity, but to the fact that the oven-heat, regulated with ease by a few switches and a thermometer, can be maintained at the correct degree to cook the meat without the close attention and continuous manipulation of fire and dampers which is necessary to maintain on a coal range even an approximately uniform oven heat.

For particulars and choice of cookers see the types on view in our Showroom
